

The Fly with spongy feet collects the invisible germs of disease—spreads them over our food and poisons us with typhoid.

The Mosquito with its bill injects into our veins MALARIA.

WE ARE all exposed to such dangers—our only armor is good red blood! Let your stomach be of good digestion, your liver active and your lungs full of good pure air and you don't surrender to any of the disease-bearing germs. The best known tonic and alternative, that corrects a torpid liver, and helps digestion so that good blood is manufactured and the system nourished, is HOME CIRCLE COLUMN.

COLUMN DEDICATED TO TIED MOTHERS AS THEY JOIN THE HOME CIRCLE AT EVENING TIME.

HOME CIRCLE.

Homes are training schools for citizens, and only as they teach patriotism in the fullest sense of the word are they doing their duty by the country in unstinted measure. The family table is the family rallying place, and it is well therefore, that meals should neither be taken in silence, nor occupied with frivolous gossip; they afford the parent and the children a meeting around where they may come in to close sympathy, and where they may receive stores of knowledge while the bodily needs are attended to.

Among all elevating influences, that of a happy home is the most permanent. Every clean home is an influence for good in the community. Every ideal home must possess beauty as well as cleanliness and kindness. Every happy home should shed its refining influences abroad. Every good home is an educator and adds immeasurably to the sum of human happiness. Every home should be a faithful guardian of public morality, the surest safeguard of the public's future.

Parents, we would say to you when God has blessed you with good girls, appreciate them. Today is the time to do it while they are hovering beneath your wings. Do not wait till they are gone, perhaps forever, from the home nest. If you love them, let them know it. If you have an interest in their welfare, let them know it. If your girls are ambitious and want to gain for themselves a position in life, help them, for it is your duty to do so. If your girls want an education, give them all the chance that lies in your power to acquire one.

It is a fine thing to stand in the midst of busy belts and whirling galleys, with the knowledge of their governing laws in your brain, and the quick control of them in your right hand; but it is finer and grander to stand where any mother may stand, if she will, among the living spirits which are to dominate them when they went to sleep with a sob, what the wheels; pondering the laws of bright, fresh faces they brought to human agency, directing the development of human activity, bearing the supreme weight of human responsibility; doing it all in utter unconsciousness of self or of sacrifice, strong in the wonderful love which alone of earthly emotions is all persuasive and all powerful against the grind and wear and worry of the world.

In a world subject to mechanical laws there can be no progress without friction; neither can there be much with an excess of it. In the one case affairs are too often allowed to slide; in the other, life becomes a "dreadful, horrid grind." A right judgment is a royal gift from heaven. Rub the baby's back by all means; he will digest better, sleep better, and behave better; but remember that he is now as yet and unhardened; his skin will be tougher later on. Stroke the family cat; she likes it, but stroke in the direction indicated by nature. There is all the difference in the world between a spit and a purr. Keep the carving knife sharp, as you value a peaceful meal, but incline it always at the proper angle to the steel. Sharpen the family wits also by judicious rubbing against each other; but interpose occasionally and very dexterously, a drop of oil. Keep the family wheels whirling but beware of hot boxes. Put a polish upon soft surfaces, but use cotton waste or soft flannel, not emery paper.

Every ambitious girl has in view some ideal work, and if they do not reach the point of perfection in that work they will be dissatisfied. Do not think because they do all the work set before them willingly, that they are satisfied. Don't you know that they are working to be promoted higher? Do not think that a profession will make your girl less womanly, no, never. Every womanly woman likes to be independent. Parents, do you realize that your girls will soon be women and have to fill women's places? Have you done your duty by trying to fit them for their position? If so, God bless you. If not, God help you to do so.

God bless the children! They are a world of care and trouble; they bring pain and weariness and sorrow, but are worth it all. Do you remember after that weary day when you were harsh and irritable and the living spirits which are to dominate them when they went to sleep with a sob, what the wheels; pondering the laws of bright, fresh faces they brought to you in the morning? How full of tenderness and forgiveness children are! How quick to forget unkindness! How fine is the intelligence with which they look beneath the surface and know that the irritable nervous creature of the night before is not the real mother, but the serene, gentle woman of the morning whom they love with deep devotion. They are the beautiful examples of the truth that sorrow may endure for the night, but joy cometh in the morning. By their love and brightness they repay us hourly for every struggle we may endure for them.

WEST VIRGINIA NEIGHBORS

On last Saturday one of our oldest and most respected citizens passed away at his home on Lick creek. Younger Napier was born Sept. 15, 1827, died Aug. 16, 1913, aged 85 years, 11 months and 1 day. He was a member of the United Baptist church and had been since 1870. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Ezekiel Counts at the residence Sunday.—Wayne News.

The jury in the Starr case returned a verdict of guilty of second degree murder shortly before noon Friday.

James Starr, charged with the murder of Bib Chaffin at Nolan in May, 1912, was placed on trial Thursday morning in the Circuit court and the entire day was consumed in hearing the witnesses. Starr claims that he acted in self defense while the state contends that he, with Henry Cassidy, and a man named Jackson, conspired to kill Chaffin.

After the shooting Starr escaped into Kentucky but was later apprehended and lodged in jail. Some time after he escaped with a number of other prisoners and was at liberty for several months, finally being recaptured.—Mingo Republican.

The new Missionary Baptist church at Whites creek will be dedicated on Sunday, Sept. 28. Rev. Jerry Harmon has been pastor of this church for the past four years and has done a wonderful work among the congregation. He is also starting in his eighth year as pastor of the Newcomb Baptist church.

Heartbroken because of the damaging evidence against his wife, who was the prosecuting witness in the case against D. J. Miller, charged with an attempt to rape, John Witten, well known railroad engineer and a son of Dr. Witten, a prominent physician of Graham, Va., attempted suicide Wednesday afternoon at his home on First-av.—Mingo Republican.

Walter S. Hallahan, for several years managing editor of the Huntington Herald-Dispatch, one of the brightest, most energetic and most successful newspaper men in the tri-state region, was last night named as private secretary to Gov. Hatfield, of West Virginia, vice Robt. H. Bernheim, resigned.

Huntington, W. Va., Aug. 22.—Alleged alienation of his wife's affections is the basis of a suit for $25,000 damages instituted by E. S. Dunn in the Circuit Court here today against R. S. Prindle, head of a furniture company operating at once in Huntington, Charleston and Portsmouth, Ohio.

Mrs. Dunn, whose affections are alleged to have strayed from her husband, was a sister of the late Mrs. Prindle. It is charged that Mrs. Dunn has been making her home with Prindle and that she refuses to return to her husband.

No agreement could be reached by the jury in Circuit court which tried D. J. Miller, railroad engineer, on the charge of attempting to rape Mrs. John Witten. After reporting that they were hopelessly at variance with no prospect of reaching a verdict Judge Damron dismissed them. It is stated that the jury stood eight for conviction and four for acquittal.

The defendant gave bond in the sum of $500 for his appearance at the November term of court when the case will likely be tried again. Misdeamnor charges against Miller and Mrs. Witten for adultery were continued until the November term. This case was brought to public attention during the latter part of May by a sensational shooting affray at the Witten home on First avenue. A few days later the woman's husband made complaint against Miller, charging attempted rape and Miller was bound over to answer an indictment. The grand jury returned a true bill against him and also indicted Mrs. Witten for the shooting.—Mingo Republican.

WHAT EDITOR HAS NOT?

A western editor received the following letter:

"Please send me a few copies of the paper which had the obituary and verses about the death of my child a week or so ago. Also publish the enclosed clipping about my niece's marriage. And I wish you would mention in your locals, if it don't cost anything, that I have two calves to sell. Send me a couple of extra copies of the paper this week. As my subscription is out, please stop my paper. Times is too hard to waste money on newspapers."
